MAGIC MACHINES in a MAGIC HOUSE: GET OFF THE GRID and DO IT YOURSELF Jack Saville

“Magic Machines” shows you how to end the “monthly cycle of bills” by showing you fairly simple weekend projects that will stop the draining of your wallet. Life can be easier. Why get trapped by the financial requirements of maintaining your home? In fact many people say, “ I can’t do this, or that, I have bills to pay!” This book has an answer to that dilemma. Once I had free hot water, free heating and air-conditioning it did not make sense to be working to pay for them any more. Just say “NO” to utility bills!!! This book is fun to read because these ideas are accompanied by dozens of full color illustrations instead of a lot of technical babble. Young and old as well as beginners and experts will appreciate the sheer volume of great ideas. Either you can build an entire house that will do all this amazing stuff or you can do a single project that may take a weekend or two that will actually make a big difference in your utility bill. There are simple practical ways to use that free energy from the sun to take care of the basic things we all expect a comfortable house to have. For people who want to go beyond improving the house they already have, “Magic Houses” teaches how to design and build a house that is inexpensive and requires no monthly bills. This includes: • People who want financial freedom • Off-the-grid enthusiasts • People with rural retreats • Anyone interested in a second home for emergency preparedness • A house you build for retirement to reduce financial burdens • People who want to live closer to the natural rhythms of life This book is for people who like to read about interesting ideas and for those who like to do interesting things.
