Illustrated in black-and-white. Gross-ologists and budding biologists, get out your crayons! Here is a jumbo-size coloring book featuring the most odious organs in the human body, all realistically rendered in repulsive detail. Middle graders will be tickled green by the fully labeled black-and-white line drawings that feature such compelling/repelling subjects as a mouth full of decayed teeth, a cross section of a person vomiting, a crusted-shut eyeball, and even a loaded rectum. Each illustration has graphic text written by a Registered Nurse, with sidebars throughout detailing facts about such revolting maladies as bloody noses, boils, clogged arteries, hemorrhoids, and more. A gross-out Gray's Anatomy!
